

Please do not weaken the No Call list. The calls are coming into private homes and are not public speech. Consumers should be able to decide which people call them in their homes, and that includes banks. Being on the list has made a considerable difference in our evening hours at home. Because we have children and elderly parents, simply turning off the phone or ignoring it are not reasonable options for us to exercise.